To the crew of Redford's own bomber, we, the class of January '45, proudly dedicate this Outpost.

How thrilled we were to learn that our bond sales during the Fourth War Loan had enabled the War Department to buy a Mitchell B-25 in our name! With what awe we watched as a great silver plane, like Redford's own, circled Sawyer field last May, its wings glinting in the spring sunshine!

This fall we learned that our ship, now called by its pilot's nickname, JAPIE, had blazed a path of glory for herself in the Southwest Pacific. A letter from the co-pilot introduced her valiant crew, who, he said, wished to know all about Redford High.

Here then is the answer: our school in picture and story. We extend to the gallant crew our fervent wishes for their safety, and the hope that they may fly our JAPIE to Victory.

Their names make news—Lauren ("Baby") Bacall and Humphrey Bogart co-starred on a G.I. overseas broadcast. They're also co-starring in a real life romance, as you know.

You can bet pretty Frances Westerman never has a dull moment when she dines with Edgar Bergen, for he's forever cooking up impromptu gags for a giggle between courses.

WEDDING BELLS SOON! Lana Turner has accepted Turhan Bey's ring with the family crest. She's wearing it on her right hand until August, when her divorce from Steve Crane becomes final, and she'll then be free to wear it as an engagement ring. Turhan wears an identical ring and the new square, gold wrist watch Lana gifted him. (Lana was so eager to surprise Turhan with the watch that she couldn't wait to have it inscribed, and now Turhan won't part with it, so it has no inscription.) Happy kids these two.

Humphrey Bogart, who never cared much about dancing, danced three numbers straight with "Baby" Bacall at the Mocambo and needed no coaxing to keep him on the floor for more.

SPECIAL

These are busy days at Redford. From early morning till late in the afternoon, and often into the evening, the buildings hum with activities of all kinds.

UPPER RIGHT: War bond generals line up under their progress charts. The goal, $350,000, was surpassed.

LOWER LEFT: Jeanne Boos and Fred Courville, with Mr. Hegener and Miss O'Leary, discuss decorations for the school's first night dance, "The Snowball", December 1.

LOWER RIGHT: Girls help study hall 385 to win the paper drive contest.

ACTIVITIES

UPPER RIGHT: Chairman Bill Wiegand and his election committee were snapped as they counted the votes during the 1944 presidential election. Redford favored Roosevelt—by a 32-vote majority!

The Office
January 2, 1945

Dear Classmates:

In a sense you are classmates, because four years ago this January you entered Redford as 9B's and I entered as principal. Of your class I know many more by name than I have known from previous classes. Haven't we had a happy and profitable time since we came? Yet, as we look back, we would have done many things differently. Be that as it may, these four years have been filled with many pleasant experiences and satisfactory accomplishments.

The life of the world has been strenuous; the war has influenced our lives in countless ways. We have been filled with great desires to help win the war, which took form in helping in paper drives, bond drives, Red Cross work, and many other activities.

As the years pass and events of high school life grow less distinct, we will remember best these war activities. I am proud of the wonderful response that you and the other Redford students have made to the various calls for help.

Your class is small but splendid. You have conducted all of your class activities with dispatch and efficiency.

This Senior Outpost is no exception. Keep this book. As the years roll by, it will become more dear to you. Whenever you look at it, memories of your high school days will again become vivid.

We do not want you to forget us. Return to us whenever possible, but above all keep alive the sincere spirit of loyalty that has characterized your stay here. More power to you!

Sincerely,
Your classmate, ex-officio,

"Intercultural Relations" is the theme which is being used this term by the art department of the Detroit Public Schools. Its purpose is to increase the interest of American students in our allies, the United Nations.

TOP: Guest speaker Senorita Trinidad de Mora, of Marygrove College, with Miss Leith and officers on the occasion of the Spanish Club's formal initiation in November. LEFT: Gib Treweek carves, John Hartz letters, and Ray Norton paints to complete a South American project requested by the Board of Education for a display window.

RIGHT: Dixon Hubbel paints a likeness of Gib Treweek's carving of a Malayan Indian.

BOTTOM: Carman Boyle, snapped with treasures from her native Mexico.

CENTER: One of twelve medals awarded Detroit high school pupils by the French Committee of National Liberation for "outstanding work in French culture and civilization." Gaylord Todd, 12B, was chosen by the foreign language dept. to receive the medal because of his "A" rating in French for seven semesters and his keen interest in France and her destiny.

HEAR YE, HEAR YE!

Introducing Stars Mary Jane Jarman, Jack Heaphy, Vi Bone, Bill Beechill, Lynn Duncan, Clif Mezey, and Ruth Beardsley, of Redford's Radio Broadcasting Guild.

WRBG projects this term include, in addition to several educational programs for the history and composition classes, the Christmas story, The Woodcarver of Hollenthal; a "sound exhibit" for radio classes of other Detroit high schools; representation in several WWJ panel discussions; and participation by speakers Bill Beechill and Vi Bone in the Cooley-Redford United Nations program.

Maribelle Facer, as traffic manager, coordinates rehearsals and broadcasts.

 CENTER: Mr. Walton and Clif Mezey repair the sound truck.
 LOWER RIGHT: A rehearsal group prepares to go on the air.

IT NEVER RAINS

SENIOR PLAY CAST

LAST ROW: Elizabeth Houck, Dorothy Drevdahl, Freeman McLaughlin, Beverly Bennett, Marjorie Wagner.
 ROW THREE: Gilbert Treweek, Bill Lichtenberg, Gordon Benz, Raymond Rice, Emil Hamilton, John Hornkohl, Bob Hund.
 ROW TWO: Patricia Carle, Barbara Flora, Ann Griffin, Nancy Strohm, Jean Brown, Jinay Noon.
 ROW ONE: Miss Cyretta Morford, Leonella Wilcox, Joan Matis, Lucille Waldorf, Beverly Siggins, Pat Laskey, Lou Ann Albright.

It Never Rains, directed by Miss Cyretta Morford, provided two hilarious evenings for capacity audiences of Redfordites.

The play depicts the troubles of the Rogers and Donovan families. Real estate causes a quarrel between the parents at the very time when Jimmy Rogers is falling in love with Dorothy Donovan. Complications keep the audience in suspense to the end, which, of course, is entirely satisfactory.

THE OUTPOST

NEWSPAPER STAFF

BACK ROW: John Kepler, Cliff Mezey, Barry Allman, Bill Wiegand, Lou Manley, Bob Wilson, Bill Ketzbeck, Gaylord Todd.

ROW ONE: Miss Van Houten, John Haas, Gloria Schockcor, Marjorie Riggs, Don McGehee, Barb Whittaker, Laura Higgins, Mr. A. D. Greene.

Former editor-in-chief, Don McGehee, who enlisted in the Army Specialized Service Program early in December, is pictured at a surprise party given in his honor by the Outpost Staff with his parents and Miss Van Houten. Although a 12B, Don had more than enough credits for graduation. He was allowed, therefore, to take his finals in December, and his diploma will be sent to him.

Andy Pringle, Fred Blackwood, Bob
Hund, Stan Wickman.

Redford's Music Department, which has an enrollment of 1,038 pupils, is said to be the largest in the city. Since September the glee clubs, bands, and orchestras have presented numerous programs at school and before outside organizations.

Featured at the annual fall concert in November were baritone Bob Hund; pianists Joanne Kelley and Bob Thompson; the boys' quartet, and the girls' sextette. Seven hundred voices sang an impressive finale.

Outside engagements included appearances before the Rotary Club at the Statler Hotel; in a joint program with Cooley in the latter's auditorium on United Nations Night; before the Rosedale Park Civic Association; and with the Detroit Symphony Orchestra at a Young People's Concert in the Masonic Temple.

No survey of the music department would be complete without mention of the carols sung by a mixed chorus in the halls on the last day before the winter vacation. For all too brief a period, classroom doors are opened, talking ceases, and the spirit of Christmas reigns undisputed in Redford High.

One of Western's backfield has just been stopped by three Huskies to halt one of those drives that rolled up a 13-7 defeat for Redford. This defeat came after our victory over Southwestern. We went on to beat Chadsey and Central, but lost to Cooley and Mackenzie.

Dick Meidell, Husky end, reaches high into the air to grab one of Harp Cunningham's passes. John Errante, Paul Kiesel, and Stan Wickman sprint across the field to clear the way for Dick.

Sports

At the right is Rondalee Ricketts, guarded by Margaret Blanchard, as "Rick" puts another one in for study hall 385, winner of the girls' intramural basketball contests. Round Robin and intramural games were played under the guidance of Miss Lucille Dreyer, girls' basketball coach. An award was given the winning hall.

Upper right: The class is being led in a discussion by their president. A mixed program of gym, swimming, and discussion is planned by the members of the class.

Left: Mary Potter, snapped as she defends a goal. Coached by Miss Dreyer, the girls' hockey team won two of the three games played this season. They defeated Cooley 2-0, and Mackenzie 4-2, but lost to Highland Park, 2-0. At the right is Shirley Spork, captain of the girls' golf team and winner of the city golf championship for four consecutive years. The team won all but one game, and that was a tie with Cooley.

YOU'LL LIKE TELEPHONE WORK

To graduates of Redford High, Michigan Bell offers a variety of jobs that not only are vital to the winning of the war, but that will be preferred jobs after the war.

Telephone work is interesting. Telephone buildings are clean and modern, with pleasant lounge rooms where you can read, write, or just relax . . . and with cafeterias serving everything from a coke to a piping hot dinner. Pay is good, with regular increases.

The friendly young women in the Michigan Bell employment office will be glad to tell you all about this work. You are invited to visit them any day, except Sunday, at the telephone building, 1365 Cass at State, one block north of Michigan avenue.
